

Open Your Class With This Tomorrow Spook

Directions

Throughout "Spook", Mary Roach attempts to test the credibility of accounts of spirits returning from the dead, communicating with the living or of the living attempting to communicate with the dead. Any investigation of this sort involved thorough methodology. Complete the following involving a concept of your choice involving the supernatural.

What concept do you intend to examine?

What is your hypothesis?

What is your null hypothesis?

What type of investigation will you conduct to determine if this phenomenon is real? (List the specific components of your study including the independent/dependent variables, if you are running a correlational study, identify the different variables).

How will you know if the outcome supports or disproves your hypothesis?